Aging is inevitable: this is gerontological dogma. And humans do inevitably grow old, which is probably why it seems so unlikely to us that other forms of life could escape aging. Escaping aging is not escaping death. Death is an inherent part of life, and it can strike any time. But the question is whether death necessarily becomes more likely as life proceeds. And it does not. The

Is Alzheimer s disease inevitable with age

In conclusion, although aging and AD are unquestionably related, the evidence suggests that they are distinct conditions and that AD is not inevitable with age. Acknowledgments Much of the work presented here is attributable, directly or indirectly, to my colleagues in the Memory and Aging Project and Alzheimer s Disease Research Center at Washington University.
